Jill Soloway and the “Transgender” Agenda, Part 1

October 9, 2015 — 68 Comments \(http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2015/10/jill-soloway-and-the-transgender-agenda-part-1/#comments\)

Brenton Sanderson \(http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/author/brenton-sanderson/\)

Jill Soloway and son Isaac

In a recent article \(http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2015/07/enji-kohan-and-the-jewish-hyper-sexualization-of-western-culture/\) I explored the Jewish role in the hyper-sexualization of Western culture. I made the point that this phenomenon — the most obvious result of the Jewish takeover and virtual monopolization of the Western media and entertainment industries — represents the deliberate ethno-political application of psychoanalytic theory to a Western culture regarded as inherently authoritarian, fascistic and anti-Semitic due to its “repressive” sexual morality. This hyper-sexualization agenda, which has had disastrous social consequences for White people, operates in tandem with the Jewish-led “civil rights” movements which demand deference for non-Whites and sexual non-conformists — these serving as proxies for Jews as the prototypical outsiders in Western societies. With the legality of “gay marriage” seemingly secured (largely as a result of Jewish efforts \(http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2015/07/the-indoctrination-game-part-2-jewish-media-influence-as-decisive-in-creating-a-positive-public-culture-of-homosexuality/\)), the focus of the “identity politics” agenda has now shifted to deconstructing traditional Western views about what it means to be a man or a woman.

As with the other “civil rights” movements dominated by Jews, the motivations underlying the “transgender” rights movement are ultimately grounded in the subversive doctrines of the Frankfurt School — and in particular The Authoritarian Personality which found that those who ranked highly on the ethnocentrism scale (i.e., those more likely to harbor “anti-Semitic” views) tended to live in worlds with rigid gender boundaries, where attractiveness was grounded in traditional conceptions of masculinity and femininity, and where sexual mores were clearly delineated. Kevin MacDonald notes that “Jews, as a highly cohesive group, have an interest in advocating a completely atomistic, individualistic society in which ingroup-outgroup distinctions are not salient to gentiles.”^{[1] (# edn1)} It is therefore in Jewish interests to subvert all non-Jewish social categories — whether these be based on race, religion or gender boundaries and roles. Hence their recent championing of the concept of “fluidity” which is the very antithesis of anything separate, homogeneous, or with clear boundaries. All cohesive (and evolutionarily adaptive) social categories that have characterized Western civilization have been subverted by Jewish activists. White masculinity has been a particular target. In his book Theorizing Masculinities \(http://www.amazon.com/Theorizing-Masculinities-SAGE-Series-Masculinity/dp/0803949049\) the Jewish intellectual Michael Kaufman notes that:

If the hypotheses so patiently investigated by the Frankfurt School were right, this was a masculinity particularly involved in the maintenance of patriarchal ideology — marked by hatred for homosexuals and insistence on the subordination of women. But it was not the only show in town. The Authoritarian Personality analysed this character type in contrast to a “democratic character” that could resist the appeals of fascism. Inadvertently, therefore, the research documented different types of masculinity, distinguished along lines other than the normal-versus-pathological categories of clinical psychoanalysis.^{[1] (# edn2)}

The position of the authors of The Authoritarian Personality associating traditional masculinity and rigid gender boundaries with "authoritarian personality traits" has since been taken up and elaborated by others. In her 2000 book Scapegoat: The Jews, Israel and Women's Liberation (<http://www.amazon.com/Scapegoat-Jews-Israel-Womens-Liberation/dp/0684836122>), the Jewish feminist theorist Andrea Dworkin (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Andrea_Dworkin) posited a direct causal link between "patriarchal Western social structure" and "anti-Semitism" — arguing that Jews and women play similar roles as scapegoats in a worldwide, timeless drama of colonization, oppression and brutality. Likewise, in their 2010 paper (<http://online.library.wiley.com/doi/10.1111/j.1467-6494.2010.00670.x/abstract>) entitled "Gender, Sexuality, and the Authoritarian Personality" published in the Journal of Personality, the psychologists Peterson and Zurbriggen claim to "present new data and review old data from our laboratories that show the myriad ways in which authoritarianism is implicated in the important domain of gender roles." The authors claim to "show that women and men high in authoritarianism live in rigidly gendered worlds where male and female roles are narrowly defined, attractiveness is based on traditional conceptions of masculinity and femininity, and conventional sexual mores are prescribed."

It logically follows, if one takes these studies seriously, that those seeking to curb the incidence of "authoritarianism" in Western societies — including Jews seeking to suppress "anti-Semitism" — should attempt to break down traditional gender boundaries and sexual mores by subverting traditional conceptions of Western masculinity and femininity. This is exactly what we see from Jewish activists — from organizations like the ADL (<http://chicago.adl.org/curriculum-transgender-identity-issues/>), to the legions of Jewish academics who are influential in the social science faculties of Western universities, to the Jewish constructors of culture that dominate Western media and entertainment industries. MacDonald notes that fundamentally the political agenda of The Authoritarian Personality, and those who espouse its doctrines, is "to undercut gentile family structure, but the ultimate aim is to subvert the entire social categorization scheme underlying society." [Jill] (#_edn3). In essence, this agenda is all about tearing down and destroying the evolutionarily adaptive pillars of European civilization to make the world safe for Jews.

Jill Soloway: from Six Feet Under to Transparent

A conspicuous example of a Jewish activist and creator of popular culture who aggressively promotes the hyper-sexualization of culture, spurious notions of "gender fluidity," and who fetishizes the "other" (i.e. everyone except White heterosexual males) is Jill Soloway who is the creator of the transgender-themed show Transparent (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Transparent_\(TV_series\))). In a recent roundtable discussion she acknowledged (<http://eshterkustanowitz.typepad.com/myurbankvetch2005/2009/04/jenji-kohan-jill-soloway-and-the-hebrew-mamita-inside-the-jewish-noggin.html>) that Jews in Hollywood are "recreating culture to defend ourselves post-Holocaust." Soloway's own work can certainly be viewed in this light. The Jewniverse website is aptly titles its review (<http://thejewniverse.com/2014/why-the-new-trans-tv-show-is-good-for-the-jews/>) of Transparent "The New Trans TV Show That's Good for the Jews."

Soloway grew up in a secular Jewish home on the north side of Chicago in a home with parents (<http://www.jwmaq.org/page.aspx?pid=3842#sthash.SUQnMZIP.dpbs>) "who prayed to the gods of Woody Allen and Sigmund Freud." While they eschewed the rituals of traditional Judaism, something that was constantly stressed in the Soloway household was "the knowledge that horrible shit happens for no good reason, and it happens even worse to the Jews." This Jewish victimology left an indelible mark on the young Soloway who noted (<http://forward.com/culture/207407/how-jill-soloway-created-transparent-the-jewiest/>) in her memoir that: "My parents are the post-Holocaust generation. ... My mom came from parents who ran from pogroms."

Soloway's mother, Elaine (http://www.jewishjournal.com/50_Plus/article/l.a.s_newest_rookie_transplant_elaine_soloway), is the author of a memoir of her childhood in Chicago's Jewish ghetto in the 1940s, The Division Street Princess (<http://www.amazon.com/The-Division-Street-Princess-Memoir/dp/0929636635>), and worked in leftwing Chicago politics as a communications director. Soloway's father is a retired psychiatrist who, bizarrely, at the age of 73, came out as "transgender." She now refers to her father as her "parent" and her "mapa" and with the plural pronoun "they." This event was the genesis of her show Transparent.

As a child another "really huge influence" on Soloway was the Jewish children's author Judy Blume (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Judy_Blume). She claims (<http://www.lamag.com/theseen/talking-writing-drugs-and-bedding-with-tvs-top-hit-makers/>) "reading all her books as a young, kind of neurotic Jewish girl and seeing her kind of neurotic Jewish girls as protagonists allowed me to see myself as a protagonist... I love a kind of shambling outsider protagonist who always feels like they're 'other.'" Jill and her sister Faith (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Faith_Soloway) attended an "all black" public school through to sixth grade before moving to a magnet high school. In an interview she claims (<http://www.elle.com/culture/movies-tv/a25432/jill-soloway-transparent/>) this experience further "stoked her sense of always being an outsider."

Graduating from the University of Wisconsin–Madison as a Communications Arts major, Soloway traces (<http://www.jwmaq.org/page.aspx?pid=3842#sthash.7xy3Qe7j.dpbs>) the roots of her radical feminism to her time at the university in the 1980s when she "took a bunch of women's studies classes, and sort of got politicized." It was at this time that she first felt the desire to take "feminism and Judaism — and try to translate them into the popular culture in a way that feels resonant with a non-feminist audience." For Soloway, Judaism and feminism have "always gone together," and notes that the radical Jewish feminist Andrea Dworkin "wrote that if you want to understand anti-Semitism, you have to understand misogyny — that the hatred of the Jew is really the hatred of the feminine. It's a fear of the questions." In Soloway's mental universe, "anti-Semitism" has nothing to do with the behavior of Jews, but is a by-product in the pathological misogyny of White heterosexual men.

Before moving to Hollywood, Soloway and her lesbian activist sister Faith (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Faith_Soloway) wrote plays, including The Real Brady Bunch, Not Without My Nipples and The Miss Vagina Pageant. Arriving in Hollywood in 1992, they quickly established a connection with the Jewish-controlled HBO where they pitched a pilot called Jewess Jones, about a female Jewish superhero, but it failed to get picked up. Faith subsequently moved to Boston where she has since written and performed in "schlock operas" such as "Miss Folk America," "Jesus Has Two Mommies," and "Faith Soloway's Lesbian Cinema Schlock Treatment."

Jill stayed in Hollywood and kept submitting pilots while working on a string of sitcoms and reality shows. Inevitably, Jewish ethnic networking was decisive in her ascent through the Hollywood system. In 2006 she penned a dirty story called "Courtney Cox's Asshole" (http://www.corpse.org/archives/issue_10/ficciones/soloway.html) which was published in a literary journal edited by the Jewish poet, novelist, and NPR commentator Andrei Codrescu (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Andrei_Codrescu). This story caught the eye of the director of HBO's Six Feet Under (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Six_Feet_Under_\(TV_series\))) who hired her as a producer on the show. This, in turn, led to work as a producer on Showtime's United States of Tara (five out of the seven producers of which were Jews) and How to Make It in America (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/How_to_Make_It_in_America) (created and produced by the Jewish writer and producer Ian Edelman (<http://www.imdb.com/name/nm2361811/>)). All three of these shows are "about 'dysfunctional families — whose work is unusually frank about gender and sexuality.'" The Jewish Journal (<http://www.jewishjournal.com/tag/jill+soloway>) notes that Soloway "has quite the reputation for writing about Jews and sex."

While working on these shows, Soloway kept trying to get her own television series going. It was the experience of being passed over by HBO in favor of fellow Hollywood Jewess Lena Dunham (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lena_Dunham)'s series Girls (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Girls_\(TV_series\))) by that prompted her to study Dunham's work. Girls is an incredibly degenerate show which glamorizes homosexuality, having multiple sex partners and abortion. There is an arc in the second season in which the main character (played by Dunham) dates a conservative White man, only to break up with him because his views are "immoral." It was seeing and admiring Dunham's work that prompted Soloway to undertake a six-week filmmaking workshop with the Jewish director and producer Joan Scheckel (<http://www.imdb.com/name/nm0253747/>) (who is now a consulting producer on Transparent). Soloway has called (<https://www.dga.org/Craft/DGAQ/All-Articles/1501-Winter-2015/Indie-Voice-Jill-Soloway.aspx>) Scheckel as a "director's guru" who convinced her that she already had years of experience being at the center of a group of people and calling the shots. She notes that: "Being a mom, being a Jewish woman control freak, means we're all just directing all the time anyway."

Lena Dunham

After her crash course in directing and producing, in 2013 Soloway wrote and directed her first movie, Afternoon Delight (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Afternoon_Delight_\(film\))), a film which focuses (http://www.jewishjournal.com/the_ticket/item/sparks_ignite_in_afternoon_delight) on a bored, therapist-frequenting, Jewish housewife, Rachel, who "drops a bomb into her marriage when she takes in a stripper named McKenna, after receiving a mind-blowing lap dance from the sex worker." The film, shot in and around Soloway's own home, won her the directing prize at the Sundance Film Festival.

One Jewish source notes (<http://www.eweekly.com/article/full/69472/a-housewife-shakes-up-her-world-in-sexy-afternoon-delight>) that: "While it would be incorrect to describe Afternoon Delight — which Soloway calls a 'coming-of-middle-age' film — as autobiographical, it is assuredly an amalgam of the Chicago native's passions: Judaism, feminism, sex, comedy and spirituality." Soloway's Jewish hyper-ethnocentrism, radical feminism, and obsession with sexual non-conformists fully characterize Afternoon Delight and, indeed, in her entire body of work. She has observed that "sex workers, feminism, queer art are all alive in the same space for me. In some ways, I feel like it's my work to be a translator between the queer world and the straight world."

Despite being heterosexual, Soloway claims (<http://www.elle.com/culture/movies-tv/a25432/jill-soloway-transparent/>) to have always felt most comfortable among homosexuals since her college days at the University of Wisconsin, where she first started "hanging out with lesbians." Soloway explains: "I've always been straight identified and always slept with men, but politically I feel like a lesbian — I see male privilege everywhere. ... I identify as queer." One of Soloway's best friends is the Jewish lesbian activist Mel Shimkovitz (<http://www.imdb.com/name/nm6679311/>) — who identifies as "butch-queer" and purports to be a "designer, actor, writer, and DJ." According (<http://www.elle.com/culture/movies-tv/a25432/jill-soloway-transparent/>) to Soloway, the two of them "instantly fell in love, and I sort of wanted Mel to be my fashion-icon muse."

Acknowledging how effective the civilization-destroying feminist propaganda spewed out by the media and entertainment industries has been in poisoning the minds of millions of American women, Soloway pointed out how common it is for her to meet women and to discover "they're either gay, they're bi, they're queer, they're feminist, they're artists, and you don't even have to stop to be like, 'Are you down for the cause to topple the patriarchy? Because it's already understood. It's like, "what are we doing today?""

Reflecting on her two decade-long obsession with sex workers and the LGBTQ subculture, Soloway observed (<http://www.culturalweekly.com/afternoon-delight-conversation-jill-soloway/>) that: "Coming out of college and women's studies, Susie Bright, Annie Sprinkle, and Carol Queen were these feminist performance artists, filmmakers, writers, who felt to me, like the female equivalent of war journalists. ... I loved what they were able to bring back from being in a room with a John or on-stage at a Peep Show. I have always found their memoirs and art compelling in a way that I didn't understand." In 2006 Soloway offered the public her own "sexual insights, political diatribes and tips for would-be screenwriters" in her autobiographical essay collection, Tiny Ladies in Shiny Pants: Based on a True Story (<http://www.amazon.com/Tiny-Ladies-Shiny-Pants-Based/dp/0743272188>).

Transparent

All of Soloway's ideological fixations (particularly her obsession with "otherness") are manifest in her show Transparent which is the story of Mort (Jeffrey Tambor (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jeffrey_Tambor)) the elderly father of a Jewish family coming out to his three grown children as a transvestite — his ex-wife Shelly (Judith Light (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Judith_Light)) already knows. He now wants to go full-time in women's clothing, be called "Maura," and be referred to as "she." Meanwhile, his son Joshua (Jay

Duplass (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jay_Duplass) is having an affair with the new woman rabbi. One daughter, Sarah (Amy Landecker), the mother of two children, leaves her husband for a lesbian lover from her earlier days. Another daughter (<http://jewishcurrents.org/tag/jill-soloway>), Ali (Gaby Hoffmann (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gaby_Hoffmann)) is (<http://jewishcurrents.org/tag/jill-soloway>) "pansexual, moody and masochistic," and who especially enjoys "being bossed around by a transsexual man with a beard and a vagina." Transparent is, in the words of The Village Voice (https://www.facebook.com/villagevoice/posts/10150557307764977?comment_id=10150557309154977&offset=0&total_comments=2), replete with "adultery, abortion, threesomes, lesbians, transgenders, interracial hook-ups."

The cast of Transparent

Transparent is Soloway's answer to the question she asked herself: "What would I do if I granted myself the same kind of artistic entitlement that Lena Dunham grants herself?" According to Jewish writer Anna Goldsworthy, writing for The Monthly (<https://www.themonthly.com.au/issue/2015/april/1427806800/anna-goldsworthy/seeing-clearly>):

Transparent does bear some resemblance to Dunham's Girls: Jewish people behaving badly; indie soundtrack; assorted humiliations of the flesh (the slap of the over-lubricated dildo falling onto the public bathroom floor, as Ali experiments with a trans boyfriend). It is attention-grabbing television, with generous lashings of nudity, but it differs from Girls in that it believes in good sex and allows its protagonists to enjoy it. And if this sometimes looks like sex in the movies, it is salvaged by an attention to everyday detail, such as the children's car seats hastily abandoned alongside the SUV in which Tammy and Sarah have their first tryst.

The negative effect that this kind of hyper-sexualized programming has on young people has been noted by the psychologists Richard Jackson Harris and Fred W. Sandborn in their book A Cognitive Psychology of Mass Communication (http://www.amazon.com/Cognitive-Psychology-Mass-Communication-Routledge/dp/0415537053/ref=dp_ob_title_bk). They note that: "Teenagers who watch heavy diet of television with sexual content were twice as likely to engage in sexual intercourse over the following year as teens who were light viewers of sexual content, even after controlling for other possible factors." Record high rates (<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/health/news/7961866/Sexually-transmitted-infections-at-record-high.html>) of sexually transmitted diseases among adolescents is just one of the negative consequences of the dysfunctional behaviour encouraged by this Jewish hyper-sexualization of Western culture.

Noting how Soloway's salacious output parallels that of Dunham and Jenji Kohan (<http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2015/07/jenji-kohan-and-the-jewish-hyper-sexualization-of-western-culture/>), creator of Orange Is the New Black, one source (<http://www.elle.com/culture/movies-tv/a25432/jill-soloway-transparent/>) notes that "All three shows explore the sexual 'other' and attempt to wrest depictions of female sexuality from the boys. These aren't new pursuits. The L Word (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_L_Word), Glee (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Glee_\(TV_series\))), and even Will & Grace (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Will_%26_Grace) were pioneers for humanizing LGBTQ roles on television, while Sex and the City (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sex_and_the_City) paved the way for a broader look at women's sex lives. But Transparent is the first to feature a fully fleshed-out trans character as the protagonist." All of these shows were created and produced by Jews. As I have previously noted, Hollywood has been integral to changing Western attitudes towards homosexuality, as Vice President Joe Biden acknowledged when he noted (<http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2013/05/joe-bidens-faux-pas/>) in 2013 that it wasn't anything we legislatively did. It was "Will and Grace," it was the social media. Literally. That's what changed peoples' attitudes. That's why I was so certain that the vast majority of people would embrace and rapidly embrace [gay marriage]. Think behind of all that, I bet you 85 percent of those changes, whether it's in Hollywood or social media are a consequence of Jewish leaders in the industry. The influence is immense, the influence is immense.

Soloway is proud to follow this path laid out by fellow Jews in "recreating culture to defend ourselves post-Holocaust," observing (<http://www.vulture.com/2014/09/jill-soloway-interview-transparent-amazon-lena-dunham-girls-louie.html>) that: "My work privileges the Other, with a capital 'O,' meaning all kinds of other — Jewish, trans, gay, unattractive, weird, freaky, outsider, different, fucked up." She proposes that "it's impossible for cis white men to understand how every, every, every other person has to synthesize the feeling of being 'otherized,' always." Cis being short for cisgender, a bogus etymological construction which supposedly describes a normal person who identifies with the gender he or she was assigned at birth.

The term was first used by the (likely Jewish) "gender warrior and transactivist" Eli R. Green in a 2006 article (http://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1300/J155v10n01_12#preview) in the Journal of Lesbian Studies, and was then popularized by the transgender writer Julia Serano (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Julia_Serano) in her 2007 book Whipping Girl: A Transsexual Woman on Sexism and the Scapegoating of Femininity (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Whipping_Girl). Soloway, a big fan of Serano, neglects to explain how Africans living in a homogeneously Black Africa, or Chinese living in a homogeneously Asian China (or billions of other non-Whites living in countries with few or no White men) are afflicted with "the feeling of being otherized always." Nonetheless, she informs us that she now feels "less angry after having made Transparent, because the experience of watching Transparent privileges the Jew."

Echoing this theme, journalist Inkoo Kang, writing (<http://www.villagevoice.com/film/transparents-jill-soloway-continues-tvs-sexual-r-evolution-6442732>) for The Village Voice, notes that Transparent's place at the vanguard of "mainstream pop culture's explorations of gender and sexuality" — alongside HBO's Girls and Netflix's Orange Is the New Black, "isn't secured simply through its trans focus, but its multivalent privileging of the other." Another commentator (<http://msmagazine.com/blog/2014/11/06/transparents-jill-soloway-on-inventing-the-female-gaze/>) claims that: "It's very interesting that the most noted shows of two of the major streaming TV services, Netflix and Amazon Prime, are by women showcasing an astonishing diversity of female (and queer) characters." While it may be interesting, this situation is hardly surprising given that all of these women are Jewish, and that a Jewish ethno-political agenda is the driving force behind their squalid output: this agenda, as always, revolving around the White displacement agenda, race-mixing, the hyper-sexualization of culture and overthrow of traditional Western sexual mores, and, in recent years, the feminization of White men and the breaking down of traditional gender boundaries.

Jenji Kohan

In addition to its highly sexual nature, The Jewish Daily Forward declared (<http://forward.com/culture/207407/how-jill-soloway-created-transparent-the-jewiest>), Transparent "the Jewiest show ever," a sentiment echoed (<http://www.newyorker.com/magazine/2014/09/29/open-secret>) by The New Yorker. The hyper-ethnocentric Soloway, referring to her show, told the Jewish journalist Daniel Fienberg (<http://www.hitfix.com/the-fien-print/interview-transparent-creator-jill-soloway-discusses-her-amazon-pilot>):

*I want it to be super Jewy! I want it to be really, really Jewy. When I gave you that list of people who don't normally get consulted when pilots get ordered — Feminists, gay people, trans people — and Jews. There's a lot of Jewish writers, but the old adage is "Write Jewish, Cast British." You're supposed to write the Jewish anxieties, but then take out any references to Tu B'shvat and make sure that the actors look WASP-y. So I think I'm gonna subvert that and write Jewish, cast Jewish, act Jewish, fall apart Jewish, make mistakes Jewish, cry Jewish. Even when I was working on [HBO's] Six Feet Under [2001-05], I was thinking, "One day I'm going to have my own show, and it's going to be about a family and it's going to be really Jew-y and really sexy."*

Naturally Jews and Judaism are always presented sympathetically in the show. According to Debra Nussbaum Cohen, writing (<http://forward.com/culture/207407/how-jill-soloway-created-transparent-the-jewiest/>) for the Jewish Daily Forward, Soloway's Transparent "shows a family — not a religious Jewish family, but one that is in many respects typically American — connecting with Jewishness in fits and starts, treating Judaism in an intimate and lovingly familiar ways." Soloway's Jewcentric output has, not surprisingly, endeared her to the pillars of Hollywood's Jewish establishment. The Jewish television writer and producer Norman Lear (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Norman_Lear), creator of the subversive 1970s comedy All in the Family (<http://www.theoccidentalobserver.net/2012/11/norman-lears-all-in-the-family-resurfaces/>), labelled Soloway his hero, noting (<http://www.elle.com/culture/movies-tv/a25432/jill-soloway-transparent/>) that: "I'm utterly taken by Transparent, [lead actor Jeffery Tambor] walks a line between hilarity and heartbreak." The Jewish director, screenwriter and producer Darren Aronofsky (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Darren_Aronofsky) has been similarly effusive, tweeting (<https://twitter.com/darrenaronofsky/status/529837854986219520>) that, "I gotta hang @jillsoloway #TransparentTV next to the best of Philip Roth."

Reading these comments reminds one of the accuracy of the Jewish director David Mamet's observation (http://www.nytimes.com/2007/02/25/books/review/Kirn.t.html?_r=0) that: "Hollywood movies are profoundly, genetically Judaic; the product, via the minds of their creators, of certain distinctive racial traits that arose in the ghettos of Eastern Europe and transported themselves to Beverly Hills." Mamet believes two of these traits, indifference to (and, indeed, contempt for) wider non-Jewish social norms and high intelligence, combined with a form of autism known as Asperger's Syndrome, which "has its highest prevalence among Ashkenazi Jews and their descendants ... sounds to me like a job description for a movie director."

Explaining the prominence of Jews in her 2006 memoir Tiny Ladies in Shiny Pants, Soloway again echoed the late radical Jewish feminist Andrea Dworkin, maintaining that, "the Jew is not just the Jew — it's the scapegoat, it's the other. My whole book is about feeling like the other, the other at summer camp, the other in the sorority, the other in every part of life." Enthusiastically adhering to the longstanding Jewish ethno-political stance favoring the promotion sexual liberation among gentiles as a way to defuse "anti-Semitism," Soloway says (<http://www.jweekly.com/includes/print/69472/article/1.a.-housewife-shakes-up-her-world-in-sexy-afternoon-delight>) she opposes "the old-school feminists who [like Dworkin] are anti-porn" and is much more in sympathy with "the modern feminists who are pro-sex worker, pro-porn, pro-choice."

As expected, Soloway's Jewish identification and sympathies override her other widely-touted ideological commitments. Despite trumpeting and propagandizing the alleged virtues of "diversity," she herself "is happily married to a Jewish man" and made sure she sent her son Isaac to a private Jewish day school. Asked in an interview why she did this, despite having written favourably of her parents' decision to send her to a public school where she was one of the few non-African-American students, Soloway disingenuously claimed (<http://www.literarymama.com/profiles/archives/2006/01/jill-soloway.html>) that: "It wasn't really the plan. Part of it was that my son is allergic to peanuts and the school is a peanut free environment. Also, I wasn't in a good public school district, otherwise I would have used the public school."

It was while she was in the process of looking for a nursery school for her son that Soloway claims (<http://www.shalomlife.com/printArticle/19492/>) that she "rediscovered her Jewishness." After walking into the Temple Israel in Hollywood she "knew immediately that this was where I want to be. After that I sort of rediscovered the tribe. I love being a community organizer and became very active with the East Side Jews and Reboot." A decade ago Soloway went on retreat with Reboot, an organization that, in its own parlance (<http://www.rebooters.net/>), brings together "Jewishly unconnected cultural creatives." It had a major impact on her and led to her starting, with other Rebooters, a group called East Side Jews (<https://siicc.net/east-side-jews>), which gathers in the Silver Lake area of Los Angeles to conduct Jewish rituals like Shabbat dinners and tashlich. Most importantly, it provides an opportunity for some good old fashioned Jewish ethnic networking. Soloway has noted that many of the writers on Transparent are people she met through Reboot and East Side Jews.

Jews are always the advocates of deviant rights. Look and see who is the head of NAMBLA, a group that advocates sex with boys. You guessed it, a JEW.

Enoch Powell: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enoch_Powell#Personal_life (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enoch_Powell#Personal_life)

Powell stated, "I have and always will set my face like flint against making any difference between one citizen of this country and another on grounds of his origins".[70] In The Trial of Enoch Powell, a Channel 4 television broadcast in April 1998, on the thirtieth anniversary of his Birmingham speech (and two months after his death), 64% of the studio audience voted that Powell was not a racist.

Powell's detractors often assert that he was 'far-right', 'proto-fascist' or 'racist'. His supporters claim that the first two charges clash with his voting record on most social issues, such as homosexual law reform (he was actually a co-sponsor of a bill on this issue in May 1965 and opposed the death penalty, both reforms unpopular among Conservatives at the time, but he kept a low profile to his stance on these non-party "issues of conscience").[6]:318 Powell voted against the reinstitution of the death penalty in 1969, 1973, 1974, 1975, 1979, 1983 and 1987. It was not until the late 1960s that he made speeches on immigration and nationality.

China taking over as the next superpower? That is the joke of the year if not the decade. Don't you people read with the Internet?

China has serious environmental issues plus a mountain of bad debts. I see China collapsing faster than America and its corrupting Jews. The future belongs to India.

With white hardware and Indian software we can build a new order free of Jews, Chinese, muslims, Mexicans and Blacks. We gave you science through the Arabs. We are best immigrants in most of your countries – no crime like Blacks or Mexicans or Jewish crooks.

We are all Indo-Europeans after all and one big family. I have been mistaken many times for an Italian or Greek or Armenian. Heinrich Himmler greatly admired our rigid caste system. Together we can defeat the Jews plus their Mexican and Blacks. No more Obamas or Ben Carsons or Jews.

Of the estimated 1,276,267,000 Indians 32,7% are extremely poor. 48% of the population has no access to proper sanitation, which means they use the street as toilet...

As for Indians being "fellow Indo-Europeans", that is only linguistically so for part of the population. Racially most Indians are Dravidians.

China may have its problems, it has far better solved its poverty than India.

@Rajiv ... your idea(s) have some merit, but we would first need to remove the flaws it contains.

Firstly, you are making an error when you imply "India" is some cohesive whole. You know full well it is not. I know all about the BJP's "India Shining" nationalist program, but there will never be true unity among all those who see themselves as Indian because there are simply too many competing races and too many castes.

The West and Southern India are not really compatible. The Dravidian culture is much closer to Malaysia and Indonesia, etc.

There is much compatibility between the West and parts of Northern India for sure. For example, the Sikhs are well respected. I have had close relations with Sikhs in Britain (I once had a Sikh girlfriend) and I felt very comfortable when with them. I am saddened whenever native Brits fail to show the respect (and gratitude) the Sikhs deserve.

The Gujaratis are another highly compatible group with the West. One can see a genetic resemblance between many Gujaratis and Westerners. Perhaps we could also include (for good historical reasons) the Bengalis also. Some of the most sexually desirable women in the world are Bengali.

This is an idea worthy of closer study. But like I say, we need to refine it, and make it more realistic. I hope you can appreciate my point and critique.

It is good to see you are reading our White (ethno-European) Nationalistic stuff Rajiv. Your positive contributions will be helpful to our cause. Thank you also for having the wisdom to see "right through the Jew".

P.S. I have spent time in your country. So I have much first hand experience of Indian culture.

Anglo shame on you for dating a Sikh girl and also for mingling with Sikhs. They maybe brave, but they are still trash. They do a lot of cunning stuff that is not good for the west. The Gujaratis are the worst of the Indians. They are like the Jews, very business minded and cunning. They also commit a lot of fraud in the US concerning money and immigration. So I hope you have come to your senses and are back to being a proper English man and married to a white woman and have many pure white kids.

Passer by,

Let's widen the question a little and mention artificial insemination in the Jewish community.

From Brave New Judaism (p. 49) by Miryam Z. Wahman, (2002)

"Are there children in the Haredi community who are born from egg donors?" asked Rabbi Gideon Weitzman, referring to the ultra-Orthodox population in Israel. "The answer is yes, and not just one [child]. There are children in the Haredi community born from sperm donors, under Halakic guidance." He explained that, as long as sperm donor is not Jewish, "there are certain cases where that is the option that is given the heter [rabbinic approval]." Weitzman thus revealed a little discussed fact—that in the most observant Jewish communities in the world there are women conceiving with sperm from non-Jewish donors, with the permission of and under the guidance of their Rabbinic leaders. Since the mother is Jewish, the child will be Jewish regardless of the origin of the sperm."

This is not at all surprising, just as it's no surprise that the close-knit Haredi keep it to themselves. Orthodox Jewry is notoriously inbred — the more Orthodox, the more inbred. There have been little Talmudic loopholes like this throughout the centuries to introduce fresh genetics. And still there are dozens of genetic diseases and conditions unique to Jews.

OT

Over at the "Atlantic Jew Magazine", the normalizing of treason and insanity starts with the first paragraph of this article, The Case for Getting Rid of Borders—Completely:

"To paraphrase Rousseau, man is born free, yet everywhere he is caged. Barbed-wire, concrete walls, and gun-toting guards confine people to the nation-state of their birth. But why? The argument for open borders is both economic and moral. All people should be free to move about the earth, uncaged by the arbitrary lines known as borders."

Stop watching the garbage. Simple solution. Personally I have saved lots of time by fasting from Jewish trash, time I now spend outdoors and reading. I only watch documentaries that I download online after careful scrutiny.

It is self-evident as with the arts Jews are hell-bent on subverting the moral fiber of this country hence their obsession with anti-WASP, anti-Catholic and anti-moral wares that attempt to make the abnormal normal and the normal abnormal.

"Thus, it is not for nothing that over there the Jews are reigning everywhere over stock-exchanges; it is not for nothing that they control capital, that they are the masters of credit, and it is not for nothing – I repeat – that they are also the masters of international politics, and what is going to happen in the future is known to the Jews themselves: their reign, their complete reign is approaching! We are approaching the complete triumph of ideas before which sentiments of humanity, thirst for truth, Christian and national feelings, and even those of national dignity, must bow."

Anybody who studies history knows such perversion is the eventual outcome of Jewish control. America has become nothing more than the new Weimar Republic, a mirror image of the Jews debauched Germany that lasted from 1919 to 1933. In fact, America hasn't quite reached the full level of prewar Germany's perverse dystopia.

Unlike their twisted dalliance with the Weimar Republic, Jews now face an interesting conundrum. America is their monster bully, projecting Jewish power-by-proxy around the globe. Historically, Jews have always been "internationalist". Their hidden hand has long maintained its influence in the simultaneous administration of multiple countries. This has allowed Jews to manipulate numerous countries into wars against each other.

Thus, Jews used France to war against Britain and then turned Britain against France. The same was true with other European countries such as Spain and Germany, all the while gorging themselves deeply from the rivers of bloody profits. Eventually they took over Russia to again play their Soviet proxy off against its alter ego, America.

However, with the possible exception of late twentieth century Soviet Russia, none of these countries boasted a power anywhere close to that wielded by modern America. In its day, the 17th and 18th centuries, Britain was the closest nation Jews had to a modern super power. Yet as powerful as Britain was during its sunny heyday, it was a far cry from 21st century America with its computerized intelligence gathering, ballistic missile submarines, drones, cruise missiles, smart bombs, and nuclear weapons.

When Jews decided to slit Germany's throat and break it joint in the twentieth century, they had a fading Britain and an ascendant America to use as proxies, so they could well afford to destroy Germany with no fear of any real impact on their parasitical agenda. If they tear away mother America's skirt, where will they go? What proxy state is available as their new golem?

China is too far off in the future to try the same tricks Jews used to destroy America. After all it has taken almost half of America's history, over one hundred years of intense burrowing into the American psyche, to get to the point they're at today. Chinese mentality is also much more aligned with Jews, making them a far more problematical victim host nation. The Chinese are every bit as cunning and Machiavellian as the Jews. Consider China's Shang dynasty (1600-1050 B.C.). Chinese civilization featured bronze technology, writing, walled cities, and a complex state structure while Jews were supposedly slaving away over hot slime pits in Egypt, building pyramids and making up nonsensical Bible stories.

While the Chinese might tolerate Jews in their midst, they are certainly far less gullible and naive than white Europeans and no doubt will be most unwilling to have Jews control their nation and culture. So what's a Jew to do without their "golden honeycomb?" Who might become their new host body, literally providing its blood along with the economic nourishment Jews desperately need to sustain their parasitical existence?

I admit I cannot comprehend the unfathomable diabolical nature of the Jewish mind. Clearly, no one has any knowledge of the Jew's present involvement with Russia. While it appears Jews have fallen from grace with the current Russian government, it is anybody's guess if this is really the case or it is simply more Zionist protocol misdirection. And while Jews are reportedly busy studying Chinese languages and encouraging their children to marry Chinese, what hope might they actually have of attaching themselves to that ancient, pragmatic body to a point where they can suck it dry or dupe it into a continuous state of warfare that only benefits Jews?

For this reason, America's walking corpse may well continue its Frankensteinian global plodding longer than anyone suspects. After all, Jews and their lies have managed to keep their murderous American zombie upright and animated well past the normal working life of many other Jewish Chimera nations.

The opponent is playing a much larger game. As we know, the homosexual market is small but deep and the transgender is nearly nonexistent, so what we are looking at is an effort to, at some point, to control the genetics of the West.

It appears that Lena Dunham, who is half Jew (mother side) suffers of a "mild" obsessive-compulsive disorder, on treatment, since her youth. I wonder: if she has the disease, and she's half Jew, how much diseased are the two others, which are 100% Jew and uglier than her? I wonder: perhaps they hate the white men simply because the white men don't see them, preferring beautiful and sane white, blonde, blue eyed, to them.

I forgot that Lena Dunham published a book in which she tells the history of a rape she allegedly suffered when at University. Actually it was all a lie, a concocted phantasy with no links to reality.
But in the meanwhile, the book sold a lot, and she is still peddling this story, even though she does not speak any more of a rape. What a shame of a woman!

"the Jewish feminist theorist Andrea Dworkin posited a direct causal link between "patriarchal Western social structure" and "anti-Semitism"
I agree with this. But patriarchal society is not simply more "anti-Semitic", it is more xenophobic against all types of outgroups. So i will post this again:

Women are less xenophobic than men. They are less interested in things such as ethnic differences or racial differences. They care less about things such as "my team" against "your team". For every five men in a far right party you will be lucky to see one woman.

The more male influence there is in society, the more xenophobic that society is. The more female influence there is in society, the less xenophobic that society is. Xenophobia means dislike for people from the outgroup. The greater the dislike for people from the outgroup, the lower the acceptance for immigration consisting of people from the outgroup.

Studies show that women try to help and support everybody in need (say hello to Refugee crisis), while men tend to help only those from their ingroup. Thus, we can expect an ingroup with high levels of female influence (have a look at Sweden) to be very interested in helping and importing refugees from other groups.

There is higher marrying out rate among females. The majority of those who are marrying out and joining other cultures are females, 75 percent of converts to Islam in Britain are females, as well as the vast majority of whites who mix with blacks. In more patriarchal societies, such as Israel, or western countries in the past, marrying out is/was illegal or is very rare. In the past, when western countries were more patriarchal and xenophobic, anti-miscegenation laws were wide spread.

Married women (those influenced by men), tend to vote to the right, unmarried women – to the left. So if you want to make a society more left wing, you should definitely try to get rid of marriage.

Men are the immune system of society. They react against invaders and parasitism, women in general don't. If you want to destroy certain group, destroy it's immune system. Just like HIV destroys an immune system. Jews behave like HIV, as they will attack precisely those who are the immune system of society. Then various bacteria moves in and then the body dies.

The thing that is unhinging western culture today is hyper sexuality. They are even sexualizing the family by sexualizing children's films such as Cat in the Hat and Alice in Wonderland. This hypersexuality is undermining everything. Sex is in fact very dangerous, can destroy people's lives faster than anything. It is depicted as the apex of being human "We are sexual beings." They are implying that it is all you need to know about humanity. Even the Hindu religion is based upon transcending desire, which would include sexuality, as a path to spirituality. Same with Buddhism. This idea is totally negated these days, the truth that sex doesn't really add up to anything special and is not the foundation of being human. We don't know exactly what it is, but we do know that it cannot replace higher levels of human relationship, or we are in deep trouble.

@Elsie. The problem isn't normal wholesome sex. Without that life would cease to exist. Also, goodness knows, it's the one area left where men and women choose to unite in goodwill rather than tear each other to pieces. I do agree with you that sex shouldn't dominate our lives. However the real demon isn't natural, balanced sexuality, but this hideous distortion, hypersexuality, with all its attendant outlandish deviances. We humans are indeed sexual beings, among other things. we cannot get away from that without destroying a part of ourselves. However this fact has been twisted by the sick cultural elite as justification for it perverted sexual mania. (The same goes for "diversity" and "equality", justifications for other manias) It's a paradox, that in this era of unnatural hypersexuality, the white birth rate has fallen sharply. Perhaps it is a time to get back to our traditional wholesome family ways and "go forth and multiply"?

I still think the author is a bit too uptight, and some of his logic does not seem to follow with me, as in the hyper-sexualization piece. I'm particularly unreceptive to when people throw around terms like 'degenerate,' and 'subversive' without even defining them, as if assuming that all sane or not looney-left-wing white people share some kind of Catholic reactionary attitude towards sexual mores.

But obviously there is a serious problem in our era posed by an attempt to psycho-pathologize heterosexual white masculinity- and the pattern of it being connected not just to feminism but to Jewish activism and psychoanalysis is quite telling. It's interesting that all these Jewish proponents of sexual freedom halt at criticizing the routine practice of male infant circumcision- perhaps because intactism would be 'bad for the Jews,' just like all of these Jewish 'civil rights' activists and 'leftists,' will turn a blind eye to segregation in Israel and extreme human rights violations against Palestinians, and in some cases even actively resist things like the BDS movement as 'Ant-Semitic.'

I will admit to enjoying Six Feet Under, but the female writers/producers mentioned in this piece just don't seem to grasp that when straight white men are perpetually demonized and denied a point of view, that white masculinity then becomes a new 'other,' and thus the white man's perspective becomes valid and special and provocative by their own pluralist 'anti-authoritarian' logic.

Very good point, Anonmalous.

I'm particularly unreceptive to when people throw around terms like 'degenerate,' and 'subversive' without even defining them, as if assuming that all sane or not looney-left-wing white people share some kind of Catholic reactionary attitude towards sexual mores.

This is a serious issue, and it might be generational? This kind of commentary could have been broadcast on Fox News in my opinion, and I do not think it is helping the cause much. It is not innovative and creative. I am a young race and culture realist, and I see these reactionary Catholic attitudes and policies as problematic and extremely destructive to the White West, and also for this movement and cause going forward and into the future. Adherents of this way of thinking get very emotional and often very irrational quick. I had the privilege to grow up without TV in my family, and have never had TV or Cable in my life. I have always been on the Internet for news, entertainment, etc. I think, this is the best way to deal with this type of "degeneracy".

There was a brilliant article on Counter-Currents by Patrick Le Brun on this reactionary Catholic issue, which I think is tremendously important, and very necessary and cleansing for the White Nationalist cause and community to talk about and to discuss:

White Nationalists Need Planned Parenthood, Not the Pope

Link: <http://www.counter-currents.com/2015/10/white-nationalists-need-planned-parenthood-not-the-pope/> (<http://www.counter-currents.com/2015/10/white-nationalists-need-planned-parenthood-not-the-pope/>)

How does the religio-racio-demographic Latinization work? Let's compare the US to Brazil to find out. Racial demographics in Brazil were not published starting in 1970 out of fear of unrest. But from 1950 to present, the White share of the country has fallen from 62% to the mid-1940s, with quite a few "Whites" who in American terms are "passing." In Brazil, poorer women in the more African populated northeastern areas and many poor, mixed race women did not have access to birth control until the 1980s, and birth control was not made affordable to them until 2007.[2]

This was due entirely to the influence of the Catholic hierarchy on politics. The now Pope Emeritus, Benedict XVI denounced the policy to make birth control affordable during his visit at that time. So the churches right wing makes sure the poor non-White Catholics have more children than they can care for, and the church's Left wing keeps them in the pews through its social gospel discourse and demands that wealthy responsible White People submit to invasion by their parishioners. Just to reemphasize, the Left and Right wings of the Church are not opposing social forces, they are merely the right hand and left hand of the same dysgenic system.

What would America look like with a Catholic social policy? According to the CDC, there have been 13 million abortions conducted for African American women since Roe v. Wade. There are more black fetuses aborted than are born, and every year about 5% of reproductive age black women have abortions.[3] There are no reliable statistics on how many White women who procure abortions are pregnant with Black babies. Currently about 2% of births issue from Black-White mixed parentage.[4] If we were to conservatively assume that 2% of abortions by White mothers in 1990 were of Black babies that would raise the Black abortions by over 20,000 and increase their total by 4%.

A back of the envelope estimate shows 6 million black children would be of reproductive age had they not been aborted, not including mixed race births. They would almost certainly be raised in poverty. Whether analyzing impoverished communities in developed or undeveloped countries there is a direct trade-off between family size and exiting poverty. So these 6 million adults, with no abortion access and living in poverty, therefore reproducing at the rate of poor Blacks, would have contributed at least 18 million new children to the Creedal Nation by now. That is the equivalent of 40 more Detroits!

Among White Nationalists this issue may be a litmus test, to see who has truly prioritized our goal of re-establishing A Nice White Country. I would never proclaim to another person that they ought to follow one religion or another (though I highly recommend adopting some regular religious practice). I count many Catholics among my comrades in France as well as both Catholics and socially conservative Protestants in the United States. I respect their prerogative to adopt their own ethical standards. These activists are true Revolutionary Nationalists, though, and for them, the divide between their personal code of honor and the public policies they advocate is crystal clear.

I'll turn again to Marian Van Court, who summed this up better than I can:

Eugenics must vigorously oppose all so-called "pro-life" candidates, and the utterly outrageous "personhood" amendments. "Pro-life" is a superficially attractive term that conceals a sinister interior, because what it really means is unequal access to contraception and abortion, which invariably causes genetic deterioration. Just as the idea of Communism sounded appealing in the beginning, the reality was untold misery. It is the same with pro-life.

As you can imagine the emotions were running high in the comment section:

How many white children would be here as well if abortion had never become legal? Abortion cheapens life and sex, strengthens feminism, and leads to the condition we find ourselves in today.

Sickening. Goodbye forever, Counter-Currents.

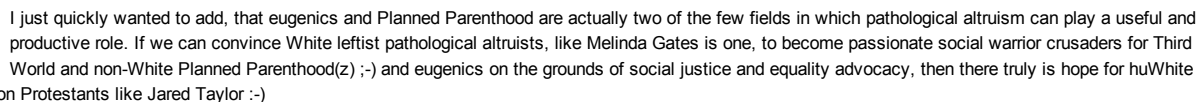

I usually do not agree with Catholic Melinda Gates much, but here she is right on the money:

Melinda Gates: 'I'm a Catholic, but women need access to contraceptives'

Although this article presents a convincing argument by pointing out that our problems stem from Jewish subversion, asserting that Jews are at the forefront of this transgender movement for example, what should be more telling is that the vast majority of Whites welcome transgenderism in open arms. Is White guilt and pathology the result of Jewish subversion or is this just another example of the ongoing ethnosuicidal tendencies exhibited by our own people in retrospect to the cyclical changes that have taken place over the course of centuries as the result of profane philosophy i.e. rationalism and materialism?

I would like to read an article on TOO that addresses our spiritual decline. Rather than focus ALL of our problems solely due to Jewish dominance, we should be see why the West suffering through an era of existential nihilism, and how we can work towards an ascendancy of our spirit (transcendental values) that have completely dissolved in the modern world.

There should be more discussion about the prophetic warnings exhibited by people such as Yockey and Spengler who hit the nail on the head by proclaiming the demise of our civilization due to the intellectual and spiritual bankruptcy as a result of existential nihilism. Our cyclical decline (Kali Yuga), which is elucidated by traditionalists like Guenon and Evola, can only be grasped by those who are willing to abandon modern values for what they really are; however, our method of addressing Western decline has become saturated, and indeed polluted, by rationalism and materialism.

The fact is, most WN's remain narrowly focused on biological evolution and psychology, believing that linear progression is somehow the accepted phenomenon, rather than seeing Western decline as a cyclical manifestation.

For those who say that Jews are the result of White dispossession fail to look at the bigger picture. To think that we can revive our race by erecting borders, by classifying individuals through IQ tests, and discriminating by blood, is a foolish endeavor, and a major setback to our spiritual ascendancy.

The "vast majority of Whites welcome transgenderism in open arms." Says who? Reading the comment sections in msn news and you tube I have come to the opposite conclusion.

"Yocky hit the nail on the head by proclaiming the demise of civilization due to intellectual and spiritual bankruptcy as a result of existential nihilism." Have you actually read Yockey? I have, everything he wrote, and twice, sometimes thrice. Francis Parker Yockey attributed this bankruptcy and nihilism to the machinations of the Culture Distorters, the Jews.

"Jews are the result of White dispossession." Not so. Jews are the cause of White dispossession.

I stopped counting buzzwords in this comment when I exhausted my fingers and toes.

The comment's incoherence is neatly exemplified in the opening sentence of its last paragraph: "For [sic] those who say that Jews are the result of White dispossession fail to look at the bigger picture." Is there anyone on earth who says the foregoing? Quite a few, of course, say that Jews are the cause of White dispossession, and whilst such an analysis may not tell the whole tale, it doesn't represent a marked distortion of that whole.

As for the next sentence—"To think that we can revive our race by erecting borders, by classifying individuals through IQ tests, and discriminating by blood, is a foolish endeavor ..."—it utterly misses the point. Few if any think that these tactics will "revive our race." Rather, people tend to think that these tactics are, not efficient causes, but sine qua nons—i.e., prerequisites to reviving a functional and healthy white consciousness. "Reviving the race," whatever that means, can hardly begin before the race has a governing elite that doesn't wish to enslave or destroy it and a territory in which its presence is taken as the norm rather being something grudgingly tolerated, if that.

As for "major setback[s] to our spiritual ascendancy," the first rule of home repair is to use the right tool for the job at hand. Devotees of power drills and channel-lock pliers are welcome to their implements; I'm sticking with daily prayer for the moment.

"I would like to read an article on TOO that addresses our spiritual decline."

It all leads back to the Jew. Mystics maintain that man has an innate desire to return to God, to the oneness from which his soul springs. The reason for man's desire to pursue a spiritual path is to reconnect with the Source. Various religions sprang up to fulfill man's innate spiritual desires. However, greedy avaricious men soon realized this desire could be channeled into a manner that would serve their own personal desires. Thus, religion was subverted to serve man instead of God. While not typically recognized as such, man's spiritual needs are greater than his basic needs: safety, food, shelter, sex etc., base needs of the material or physical realm. However, the physical needs must be met to proceed on the spiritual path. The two are inseparable.

Only the spiritual quest elevates man to a level beyond the rest of the animal kingdom. Secular leadership has long recognized this spiritual need and has supported various levels of this quest among their people by incorporating it into the culture. Thus, the spiritual quest was, and is, perceived to be an adjunct to man's material culture.

The knowledge of this quest and the techniques to pursue the spiritual path has been preserved by various groups whose teachers have but one goal, to help others in their quest to achieve spiritual perfection that will lead the soul, or spirit, to a return to the Source. Teachers who have attained this state of perfection have no need, or desire, to pursue the material aspects of the world, they ask nothing of their students but the most sincere attendance to their teachings; this comes in the form of total submission to the teacher. Total submission of course requires a tremendous amount of trust in the teacher. In most cultures, such teachers are recognized and revered for their efforts, but this has not been the case for the Judaic based religions of western culture.

The Judaic religions perverted the idea of the spiritual quest. The founding priesthood of Judaism, while based on the return to God in the form of an afterlife access to God's opulent, heavenly house, strove not to reconnect men to God, but to separate man from his deity. The first problem in achieving this separation lay in polytheism. The priesthood recognized any attempt to control access to multiple gods would be much like trying to herd cats. The solution was to centralize God, replacing the polytheist's religion with a single God.

Monotheism was an idea innate to man, after all he was led by a single king who had administrators to carry out his commands, so why not a single God who functioned within the same structure? Did not many kings claim to be a god or a son of one of the gods? God would now replace the king, while priests would replace the administrators. The priesthood soon elevated their new God to the same status as a king, but the Jewish priesthood took it one step further, fully replacing the need for a king with need for a God. Now the Jew's king had become invisible and inaccessible – except through his personal administrators, the priests. This allowed administrators to spread the wealth and power of a king among themselves. How did a king project his power? Through fear and force wielded through his administrators.

Separation of man could now be accomplished by instilling fear and obedience to this single God. The priesthood maintained that the average man, due to his limited knowledge and spiritually debased state, could not personally access God, therefore an intermediary or intercessor was required for men to achieve heavenly access. This is where the priesthood entered the picture.

Priests were men who claimed special access to God. Only priests had God's ear, only they could talk directly to God. These priests were more than willing to help those who followed the spiritual path, but there was a catch. God required payment for his spiritual services and since only the priest could talk to God, they were God's administrators who accepted payment on his behalf. The first thing these priests taught was that man's fundamental problem was his evil nature and their stories told how men had sinned against God to a point he could never undo these initial wrongs or "original sins". These sins were so great that man could never reconnect to God in this life, but had to await his greater reward that would be delivered in the afterlife.

However, God would severely punish with the horrors and torment of eternal damnation, those who did not pursue this greater reward. Considering the suffering man endured in this life, how many would choose to go to even worse suffering in the after life? This was the priest's spiritual prodding by terrorism. The only solution to the sin that would lead to this eternal torment was continual atonement in the form of a sacrifice. Of course as God's administrators, priests were entitled to a small cut of the sacrifice for themselves. "It is nothing" they would say.

Judaism was a very powerful, very profitable, self-sustaining system of reoccurring income for the priesthood. The system was so powerful it totally subsumed Hebrew culture, becoming its law, government, and economic dictator and it all functioned on a God of terror. Thus, Judaism had everything to do with profit for the priesthood and their Temple and nothing to do with man's spiritual pursuit. Under the Judaic system, God was merely a product priests sold to the gullible dupes following their religious system. It was in the priest's best interest that men would never find God, but become continually trapped in the pursuit of God's forgiveness.

Again, Judaism has nothing to do with man's spiritual pursuit and everything to do with material gain for an elite priesthood. Jesus was a teacher of the original method, a man of true spiritual nature who sought to correct the priest's corruption of the spiritual path. Jesus was a man who sought to return his people to the original path where they might reconnect with God in this life and end their suffering. Ironically, he himself had to become a sacrifice to the Jew's religious system to achieve his ends.

In time, other men outside the Jewish culture realized the immense power and profit to be gained by the Jew's religious system. These men saw a chance to rewrite the Jew's powerful Biblical stories to serve their own avaricious ends. To achieve this, they used Jesus, the teacher who attacked the system. The Christian combined Jesus' teachings with the original, Old Testament system.

While paying lip service to the radical religious revisionist Jesus, Christians merely reinstated the original Judaic religious system of man's separation from God and sacrificial tribute to the Temple, which Christians renamed the "church." The way the new Christians achieved their usurpation of Judaism was by claiming their new God, Jesus, not only supported Old Testament law, but was in fact the Old Testament God YHWH himself. Thus, one finds most Christians following Old Testament law instead of Jesus' teachings.

This is why one often finds Christians gloating over the imagined hellish fate of non-Christians. While Jesus taught acceptance for all men and two commandments that supersede all other commandments – love God and love thy fellow man; Judaism taught religiocentrism, condemning heretics who failed to pay heed to their religious beliefs to a hellish fate.

Other regional tribal members saw the same potential for power and profit and so once again copied the original system with the overlay of their own personal prophet, Mohammed. The result was the same for all those who stole the Jew's thunderous religion, i.e. immense power and profit maintained and delivered by a fanatical following to those religious authorities who speak for God.

Judaism and her two daughters, Christianity and Islam, are what have been termed "false" religions. Their priests, prophets, rabbis and imams, are false teachers seeking to enrich themselves and enhance their power in the name of a God they created. These religious systems are nothing more than spiritual perversions created by men to achieve their own avaricious ends. Those who desire to pursue a true spiritual path must leave the Judaic based religions, to move beyond these circular paths that only return to man's base desires to fulfill his animal needs. Buddha taught that all man's suffering is derived from the pursuit of these base desires. As the Sufis say, while religion provides a good foundation for one's spiritual path, ultimately religion must be transcended if enlightenment is to be obtained.

So how does one pursue the true spiritual path? This is a difficult question to answer, for those who teach the truth have been mercilessly persecuted throughout history for their teachings. Jesus is but one example of such persecution, there are many more in the Islamic world. This persecution has driven the true teachers underground, making them difficult, if not impossible, to access. Yet, multitudes of false teachers have arisen outside mainstream religion to claim the title of spiritual teacher or guru. Unlike the true teacher, these gadflies are typically ignored by the mainstream religions, for they too lead men only on a circular path to material gain. Only those seeking to return man to his original state, to God, are sought out and persecuted, for when man truly reconnects with God, with the oneness, the source, what need has he for the intercessors or their material world?

What true teachers say is the first step that must be taken is to study. Patience is the key to this endeavor. Study comes in the form of observation. The first and most important observations are those of the self. Careful observation of one's motivations and desires reveals the "commanding self" or "ego" that prevents any true objectivity in man's observations and motivations. When one reaches a certain point in their studies, the teacher then manifests. This concept is alien to the western mind that views the world from a highly subjective, pragmatic and egotistical perspective. i.e. I desire something, therefore I pursue it until it is achieved or acquired. To merely study and wait without expectation is unthinkable to the western mind. The spiritual path however does not fit into this neat western perspective; one might say God does not work in such simple ways. Thus, one must paradoxically turn away from their desire for the goal in order to achieve it.

The spiritual path is not the simple matter many religions make it out to be, e.g. all one has to do is ask Jesus into their life and they receive permanent spiritual salvation. In truth, the spiritual path is the most difficult of all human endeavors. Therefore, it is not a part time activity to be pursued on given dates and times, but a lifetime endeavor requiring total submission and submersion. When one embarks on the path, everything ~ EVERYTHING ~ will be left behind.* Therefore, it is a path not taken lightly. It is a path fraught with difficulty and danger. What is the alternative? To spin endlessly in pursuit of material gain in hope for happiness and satisfactions never fulfilled.

Life is a school and as with every school, the only real goal of the student is graduation. Of course, those failing the curriculum must repeat the course of instruction. Upon graduation, all ancillary activities of the school are left behind. The spiritual question is when the final bell rings, what will the student ultimately take from life's classroom?

"For Soloway, Judaism and feminism have "always gone together"

This is only in the West.

I will again mention that Israel is not a feminist society, and is not a liberal society. Gender dynamics in Israel are quite different compared to those in the West.

Feminism and liberalism are for westerners only, but not for Israel.

For example:

In Israel, the only institutionalized form of Jewish marriage is the religious one, a marriage conducted under the auspices of the mostly male rabbinate.

There is very low divorce rate in Israel – 28 % compared to more than 50% in the US and Europe. Probably because in Israel, a Jewish woman can not divorce without her husband's permission.

There is very high birth rate – 3 kids per Jewish woman. In Europe, the birth rate for white women is 1.5, in the US – 1.7
The population replacement rate is 2.1

There is very high marriage rate in Israel, and very low levels of cohabitation without marriage. Only 3 percent of kids are born to mothers who are not married, compared to 40-50 percent in the West. Why is marriage important? Unmarried women tend to vote to the left, married women – to the right. In the US, 70 percent of unmarried women voted for Obama, while the majority of married women voted against Obama. Therefore a society with high marriage rate will tend to be more right wing and xenophobic.

A woman without a man in Israel is seen as something to be remedied; a woman without children – an aberration to be pitied.

Gender segregation is tolerated if it is for religious reasons.

Parents are highly involved in mate selection for their daughters.

A wife must receive permission from her husband in order to divorce him, even if he is at fault. A husband can secure a divorce whether or not his wife consents.

The rabbinical court that manages marriage and divorce is all male.

A child born to a married woman from another man is labeled as a bastard (mamzer), and is not eligible to marry another Jew.

There is low opinion for "illegitimate children" in Israel, where they are called "mamzer", which could mean a "bastard", or a "son of a prostitute".

A married woman who had a sexual relationship with another man is not allowed to marry the latter once her marriage is dissolved; a Cohen (a man belonging to the priestly caste) may not marry a divorced woman; a woman who has been separated from her husband for reasons beyond her control, such as war or disappearance – may not remarry at all. Moreover, women whose husbands refuse to divorce them are also banned from remarriage.

Same-sex couples are also excluded from marriage. Interfaith marriages are not recognized either, since Judaism, Islam, and other religions impose restrictions on marriage between people of different religions, and in many cases even regard this kind of marriage as void.

The gender income gap in Israel is large – women earn 35 percent less of what men earn. The gender income gap in Israel is way bigger than the one in the US and EU.

Abortion is illegal for married women in Israel.

Jewish women in Israel are not allowed to marry non-Jews.

According to Avigail Moor, a psychologist who treats victims of sexual violence and a researcher at the Tel Hai college in northern Israel, more than 60 percent of Israeli men and 40 percent of women do not believe that forcing sex on an acquaintance constitutes rape. As for sex without consent in a relationship, 18.5 percent of Israeli women and only 17.3 percent of men thought that was rape.

As Peter Beinart wrote in his celebrated New York Review of Books essay: "For several decades, the Jewish establishment has asked American Jews to check their liberalism at Zionism's door."

These realities have less to do with gender than with the unique fact of Israel's existence as a westernized country. Its existence is always under threat, and this creates an emphasis on being Jewish rather than on gender. They need each other. Women have an important role in the Israeli military and there is less conflict there because of the fact of being under threat. Much of the social conflict here is a luxury of too much peace and wealth. That will change. Then people will support each other. Also importance has many different measures. My grandmothers weren't feminists but they were the most important people in my family.

These realities have less to do with gender than with the unique fact of Israel's existence as a westernized country.

But Israel is one of many "westernized countries." As the "fact" you mention is fatally compromised, uniqueness is ipso facto no longer a factor.

[Israel's] existence is always under threat, and this creates an emphasis on being Jewish rather than on gender.

That is Jewish propaganda; no more, no less. Israel is under less of a threat than all but three or four nations on earth. On the other hand, whether alone or via the Tribe's control of US policy, Israel represents an existential threat to all of its neighbors and to every formerly Western Christian nation in the world.

Women have an important role in the Israeli military ...

This was never true to more than a very limited extent, and the era when it was even slightly true ended by 1975 at the latest. In the early seventies, the presence of women in Israel's war machine was pushed in blatant fashion by the controlled US media—I vividly recall cover stories showing big-boobed "soldiers" decked out in combat gear in the newsweeklies, along with editorials in the Times hailing Israeli women's realism and heroism—but Americans of those days were so revolted at the prospect of having their womenfolk in the military in larger numbers, let alone in combat, that the Tribe beat a hasty retreat. Meanwhile, back in Israel, within a year or so all Israeli women in uniform were once more in support duties—presumably including prostitution.

Much of the social conflict here is a luxury of too much peace and wealth. That will change.

Dear Lord above, are you seriously speaking of the USA? Look about you, Madam. Or are you a member of a certain privileged Tribe?

My grandmothers weren't feminists but they were the most important people in my family.

Did you mean to send this comment to Jill Soloway or Lena Dunham? It might make more sense to one of them than to anyone hereabouts.

I do not believe this is correct, as jews in the US, where there is "too much peace and wealth", also have higher marriage rate and lower divorce rate than the rest of the US population. Therefore, while they are preaching the implosion of the family to the gentiles, while they are preaching the virtues of divorce, single moms and cohabitation, they do not believe that for themselves. Not to mention, that in the US, an orthodox jewish woman must also receive permission, called "get", from her husband in order to divorce him, even if he is at fault. A husband can secure a divorce whether or not his wife consents. What are feminist jews doing against this? Not much, since the practice is still there. As jews themselves say, In Orthodox Jewish Divorce, men hold all the cards.

In the jewish mind, ethnic identity and jewish traditions will always trump gender identity. If you ask a jew, one of the most important things for them was WW2.

And WW2 was not about gender, it was about ethnicity. Especially jewish ethnicity. Therefore, for jews their religious and patriarchal structures are sacred and not to be attacked by feminism. A feminist call for the destruction of Judaism and its laws, as it is a patriarchal structure that controls women, will not be acceptable to jews, because trying to destroy Judaism is in their minds "the same thing that Hitler tried to do", and therefore is unacceptable. This is why it is impossible to deconstruct Judaism by using leftist arguments that otherwise work against Christianity or other patriarchal systems.

As Peter Beinart wrote in his celebrated New York Review of Books essay: "For several decades, the Jewish establishment has asked American Jews to check their liberalism at Zionism's door."

The block-quoted paragraph stands in a cognitively dissonant relation to what precedes it. Beinart is no white man's, no Christian's, idea of an admirable figure, and calling anything he wrote "celebrated" provokes distrust and dyspepsia anent what precedes it. Furthermore, the quoted sentence is strikingly malapropos. Who gives a damn what "the Jewish establishment has asked American Jews" to do? TOO's readers are infinitely more concerned about what Beinart and the Jewish establishment insist that we American non-Jews do.

It's one thing for Nazis, snackbars and obscure academics to complain of a Jewish plot to subvert civilisation; quite another for those inside media oligarchies to be so brazen about their agenda and modus operandi. One gets the impression of a supremely arrogant parasite, sure beyond doubt of its invulnerability.

One great problem of worshipping money and worldly power rather than God is this very arrogance — one thinks oneself beyond any natural law, and beyond any reaction or consequences for such actions. I guess Jews are so powerful that they can safely ignore both the internet, and the consequences of importing millions of rabid snackbars, whose greatest goal is jewicide.

Strange isn't it that transsexuals and their enablers claim to reject traditional Western versions of male and female yet are often the most cliched stereotypes... the transwoman wearing high heels, dresses and elaborate hairdos, the transman with shaved head, muscles and tattoos. To be less rigidly gendered would be to wear chinos and a t-shirt. Up is down, black is white.....

For those of us intelligent enough to have long ago gotten thoroughly disgusted with TV programming, this article is shocking. With the cable networks, this extreme weirdness, is more broadly available to the public, including young people.

I wonder about the percentage numbers of aberrant sexuality within the Jewish populace. It might have to do with the Sabbatean-Frankist influence.

This blaming of white men and being offended by masculine behavior has gone way over the top and is certain to create backlash. It is creating an atmosphere wherein many women are ending up alone. Let me tell you, it is not all men that are the problem. What decent man will put up with a radical feminist? They can be absolutely obnoxious. I know that schizophrenia is high within their gene pool. They seem to be unnecessarily neurotic, and relish that quality. I predict that sooner rather than later a natural revulsion will continue to build. I just can't accept that the majority will continue to accommodate such perversions and hypocrisies. These people are so odd, so obsessed with pushing the envelope, especially the perverse. And it appears to be no holds barred at this point, they are truly, 'out of the closet' now in their madness. There seems to be no ability for self-governance or respect for decorum.

On September 5, 2014, the UK's Cambridge University released a report which claims that homosexuals, lesbians and bisexuals are "more likely to have mental health problems" than normal people.

The report is the result of a national survey carried out by eight psychology professors of the University.

The survey was mailed to 5.56 million randomly sampled adults registered with a National Health Service general practice (representing 99 % of England's adult population). In all, 2,169,718 people responded (39 % response rate), including 27,497 people who described themselves as gay, lesbian, or bisexual.

According to the study, some 12 percent of lesbian women and almost 19 percent of bisexual women reported mental health problems, compared with six percent of heterosexual women.

Some 11 percent of homosexuals and 15 percent of bisexual men reported mental health problems, compared to five percent of heterosexual men.
